

To eat nutritiously, there is no one food that you can not eat. What's important is to control your portion size and consider how often you are eating foods that are high in fat. If the rest of your eating pattern follows Canada's Food Guide to Healthy Eating, then the occasional high fat food is fine.

When temptation grabs you...

Pies...cakes...chocolate bars...

Should I or shouldn't I?

